About the Centre

The primary purpose of the Centre for Data and Analysis on Psychology Licensure® (the Centre) is to support psychology licensing boards in making informed decisions through consistent data collection, analysis, and reporting. With this fifth publication of the ASPPB InFocus® and updated Centre, ASPPB® wants to thank our member boards for their participation. We look forward to continued collaboration in the collection and analysis for the regulation of the profession of psychology.

About the Data

This is the fifth edition of the ASPPB InFocus® and the Centre will continue to identify data points and modify data displays for future publications. The data presented in this publication is derived from several sources of repositories:

PSY|Book

ASPPB's online reporting tool for licensure requirements. Representatives from the psychology licensing boards complete an annual survey regarding the licensing requirements specific to each jurisdiction. ASPPB does not alter the responses to the survey. The data displayed in this publication represents all survey information gathered at time of publication. ASPPB recommends confirming specific data points directly with the psychology licensing boards prior to making licensure or regulatory decisions.

PSYPACT®

The Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact (PSYPACT) data is provided by the PSYPACT Commission. Data presented regarding PSYPACT is current through December 31, 2024. ASPPB recommends contacting PSYPACT staff or visiting www.psypact.gov for the most current information.

Welcome to ASPPB InFocus® 2024

Dear Colleagues,

It is with great enthusiasm that I welcome you to the 2024 edition of ASPPB InFocus®, produced through the dedicated efforts of ASPPB's Centre for Data and Analysis on Psychology Licensure®—commonly known as The Centre.

Over the past four years, the ASPPB InFocus has become a valued resource, and we've been appreciative of the positive feedback from readers who rely on this publication for comprehensive, jurisdiction-specific information on psychology regulation. This year's edition continues that tradition, featuring updated content from 58 jurisdictions across the United States and Canada.

The 2024 ASPPB InFocus offers a broad and refined look at psychology licensure, including data on the number of licensees in those 58 jurisdictions and detailed information on education, supervision, examinations, license renewal, and continuing professional development and education requirements. In addition, this edition includes three special focus sections on key topics shaping the regulatory landscape: the Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact (PSYPACT)®, the Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology (EPPP)®, and the ASPPB Disciplinary Data System (DDS).

Thank you for your ongoing support of ASPPB and The Centre. Together—with our readers and regulatory partners—we are advancing a future where psychological services are grounded in public protection and ethical excellence.

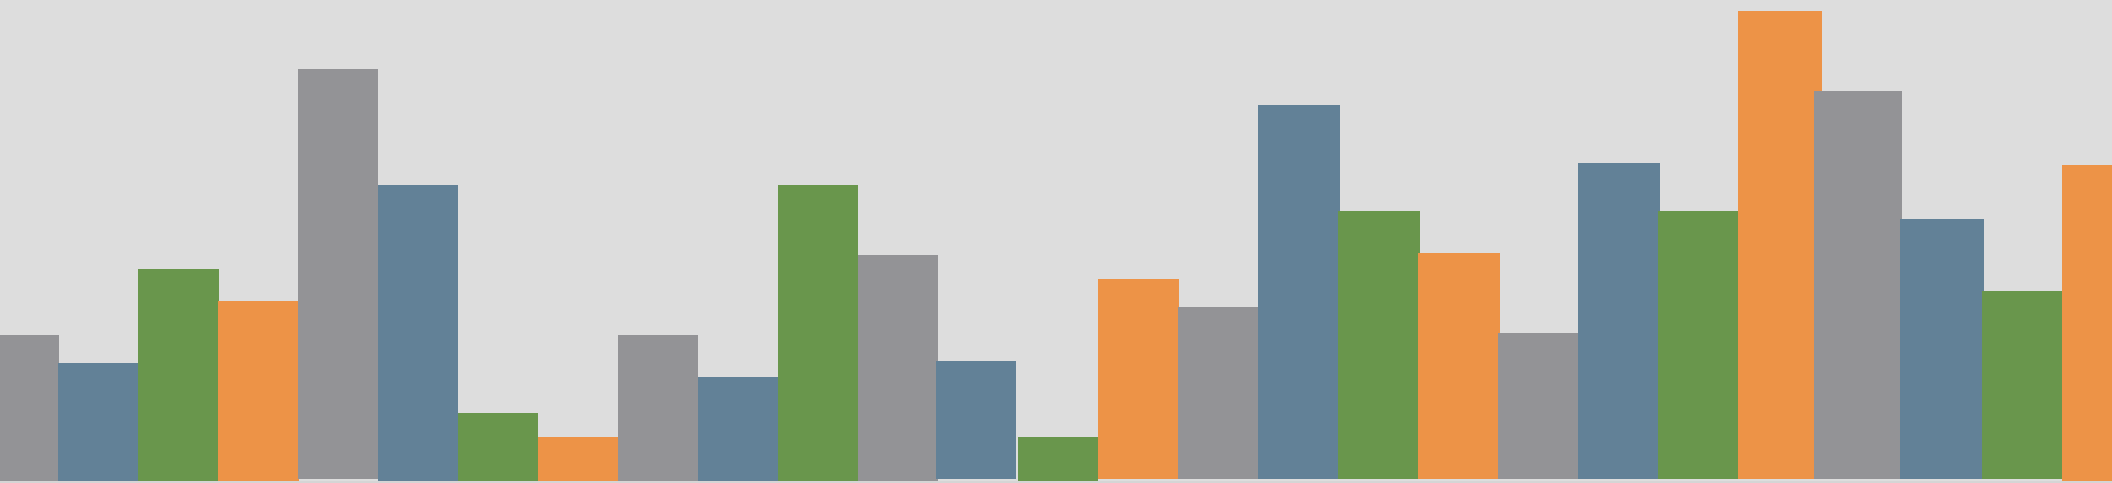

Best regards,

Mariann Burnetti-Atwell, PsyD
Chief Executive Officer, ASPPB

Spotlight

Big picture view of psychology licensure in the United States and Canada with a spotlight on the number of licenses, education, supervised experience, exams, fees, renewals, continuing education/continuing professional development and other pertinent information about psychology licensure.

As noted in the previous data displays, psychology licensing boards issue multiple types of licenses and the licensing requirements for each type of license vary. The following data focuses on licensure requirements for practicing as a psychologist in the United States, U.S. Territories, and Canada. Please submit an inquiry to the Centre or visit the psychology licensing board websites for additional information on types of licenses.

Number of Licenses

Psychology licensing boards are responsible for governing the practice of psychology in their state, province or territory. In order to practice as a psychologist in the U.S. and Canada, a psychologist must obtain an active license to practice psychology from their state or provincial psychology licensing board. Each year, ASPPB surveys the psychology licensing boards regarding the numbers of licenses they maintain and issue. The following information displays data from the number of licenses maintained and issued in 2024 by respondents.

Education

In order to practice independently as a psychologist in the U.S. and Canada, the prevailing standard is that a psychologist must have obtained a doctoral degree in psychology. Approximately 60% of respondents accept programs accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA), and 48% accept programs by the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA), but they also allow for other alternatives. Additionally, most respondents (74%) require regional accreditation of the degree-granting institution. Data from 2024 also reveals that a little over half of respondents (57%) have a residency requirement.

23 respondents reported YES to an equivalent path to licensure if APA/CPA accreditation is required.

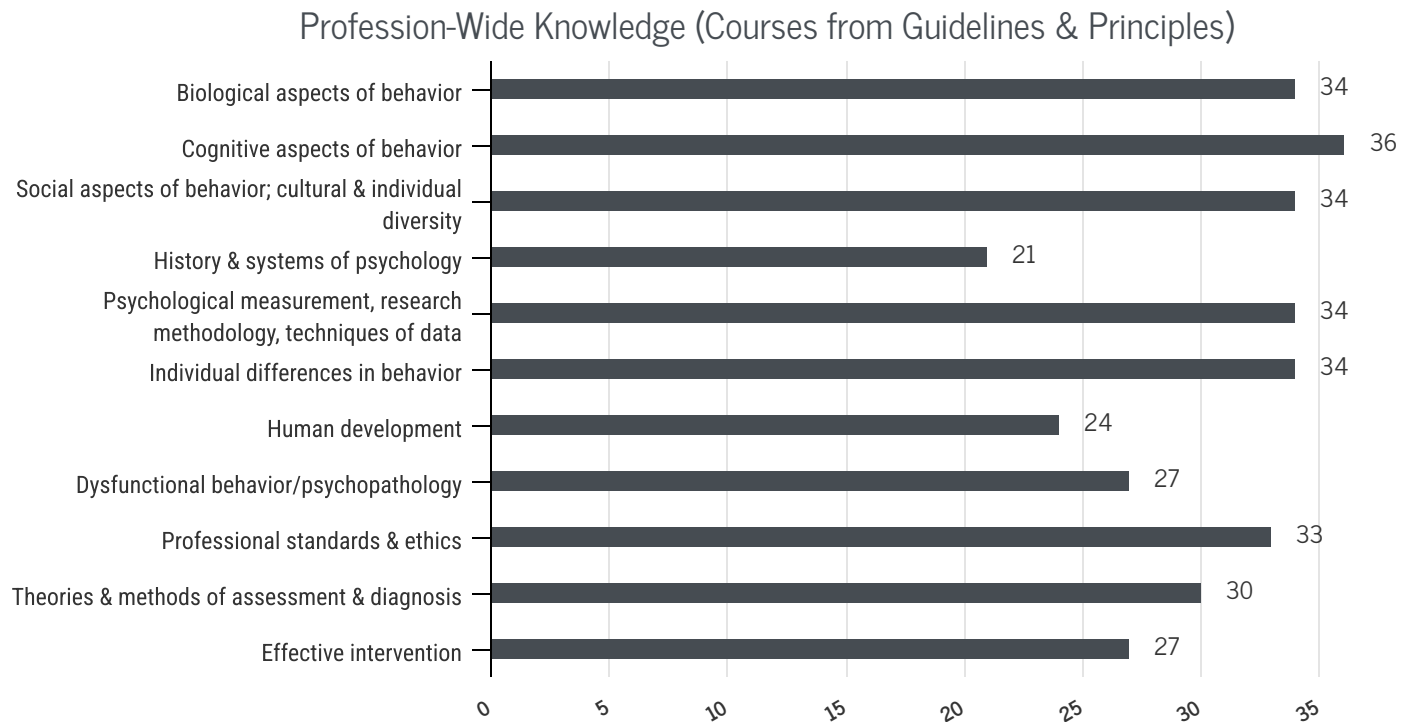

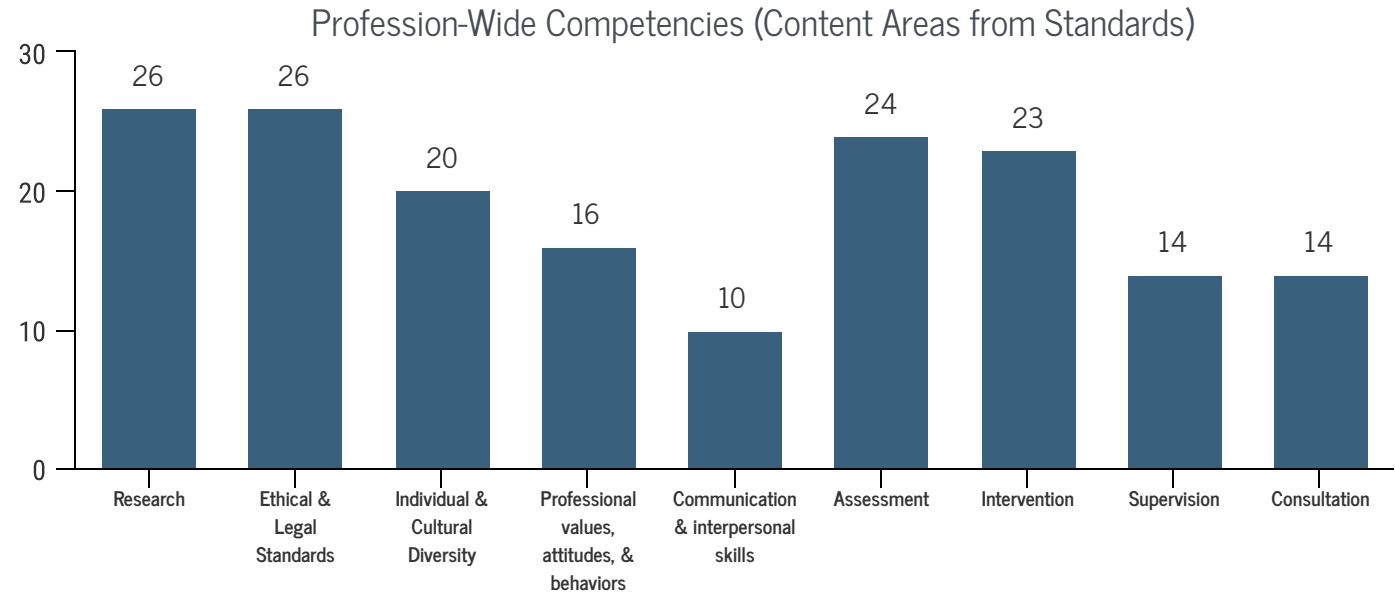

36 respondents reported YES to APA/CPA satisfying educational requirements for licensure in their jurisdiction

Examinations

Approximately 98% of respondents require the EPPP (Part 1—Knowledge) to obtain a license to practice as a psychologist. Some respondents also require applicants for licensure to take an oral examination (28%), with a larger proportion of respondents requiring applicants for licensure to take a jurisprudence examination (66%) specific to their jurisdiction's statutes, rules, and regulations.

Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology (EPPP)

The EPPP (Part 1—Knowledge) is developed and owned by ASPPB and provided to psychology licensing boards to assist them in evaluating the qualifications of applicants for licensure. Most jurisdictions require a passing score on the EPPP (Part 1—Knowledge) prior to licensure. In addition, the EPPP (Part 2 - Skills) was introduced in 2020 and is used to apply the knowledge tested in the EPPP (Part 1 - Knowledge) to decision-making in typical real-world, independent practice situations. Some jurisdictions also require you to achieve a passing score on the EPPP (Part 2 - Skills). Contact the jurisdiction in which you are seeking licensure to determine if you will be required to take the EPPP (Part 2 - Skills) exam.

Temporary Practice

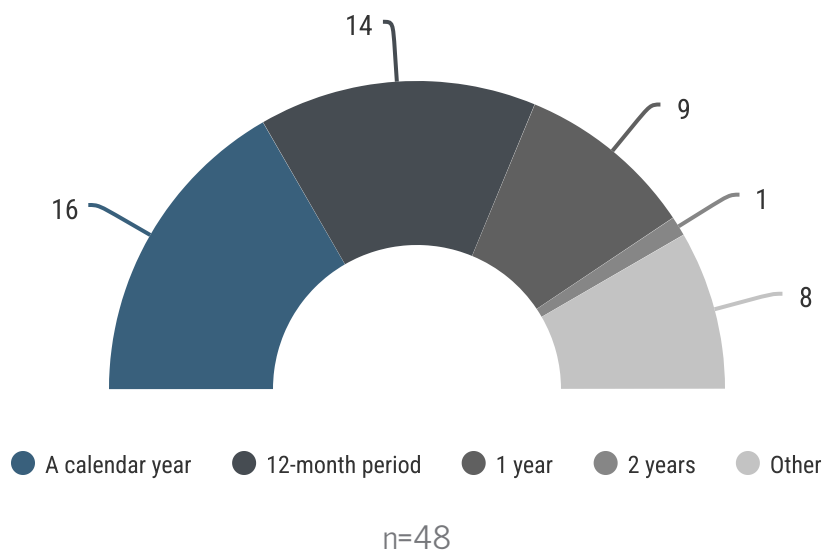

Temporary practice is defined by ASPPB as when an individual licensed to practice psychology at the doctoral level in one jurisdiction may practice psychology in another jurisdiction for a specific period of time without obtaining full licensure. Though requirements vary by jurisdiction, 49 out of 58 respondents (84%) authorize temporary practice through one of the methods listed below.

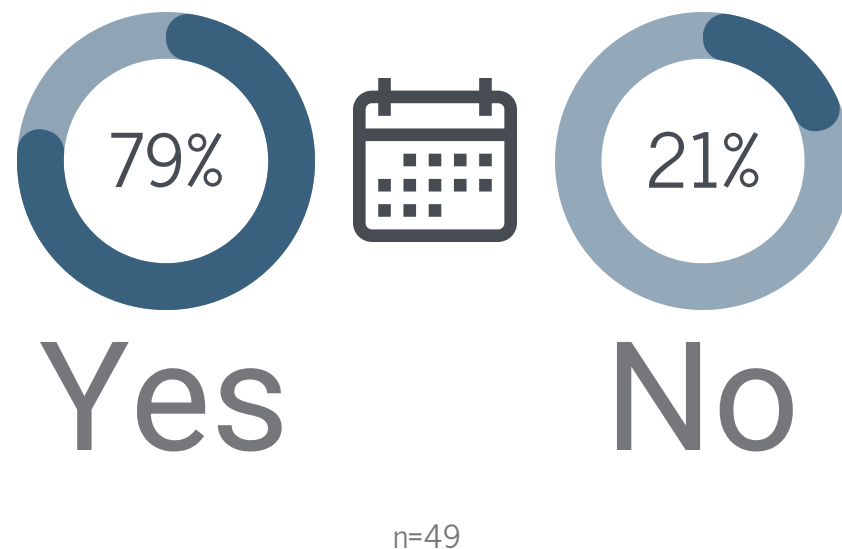

Maximum Number of Days

Temporary Practice Timeframe

Must Days Be Consecutive

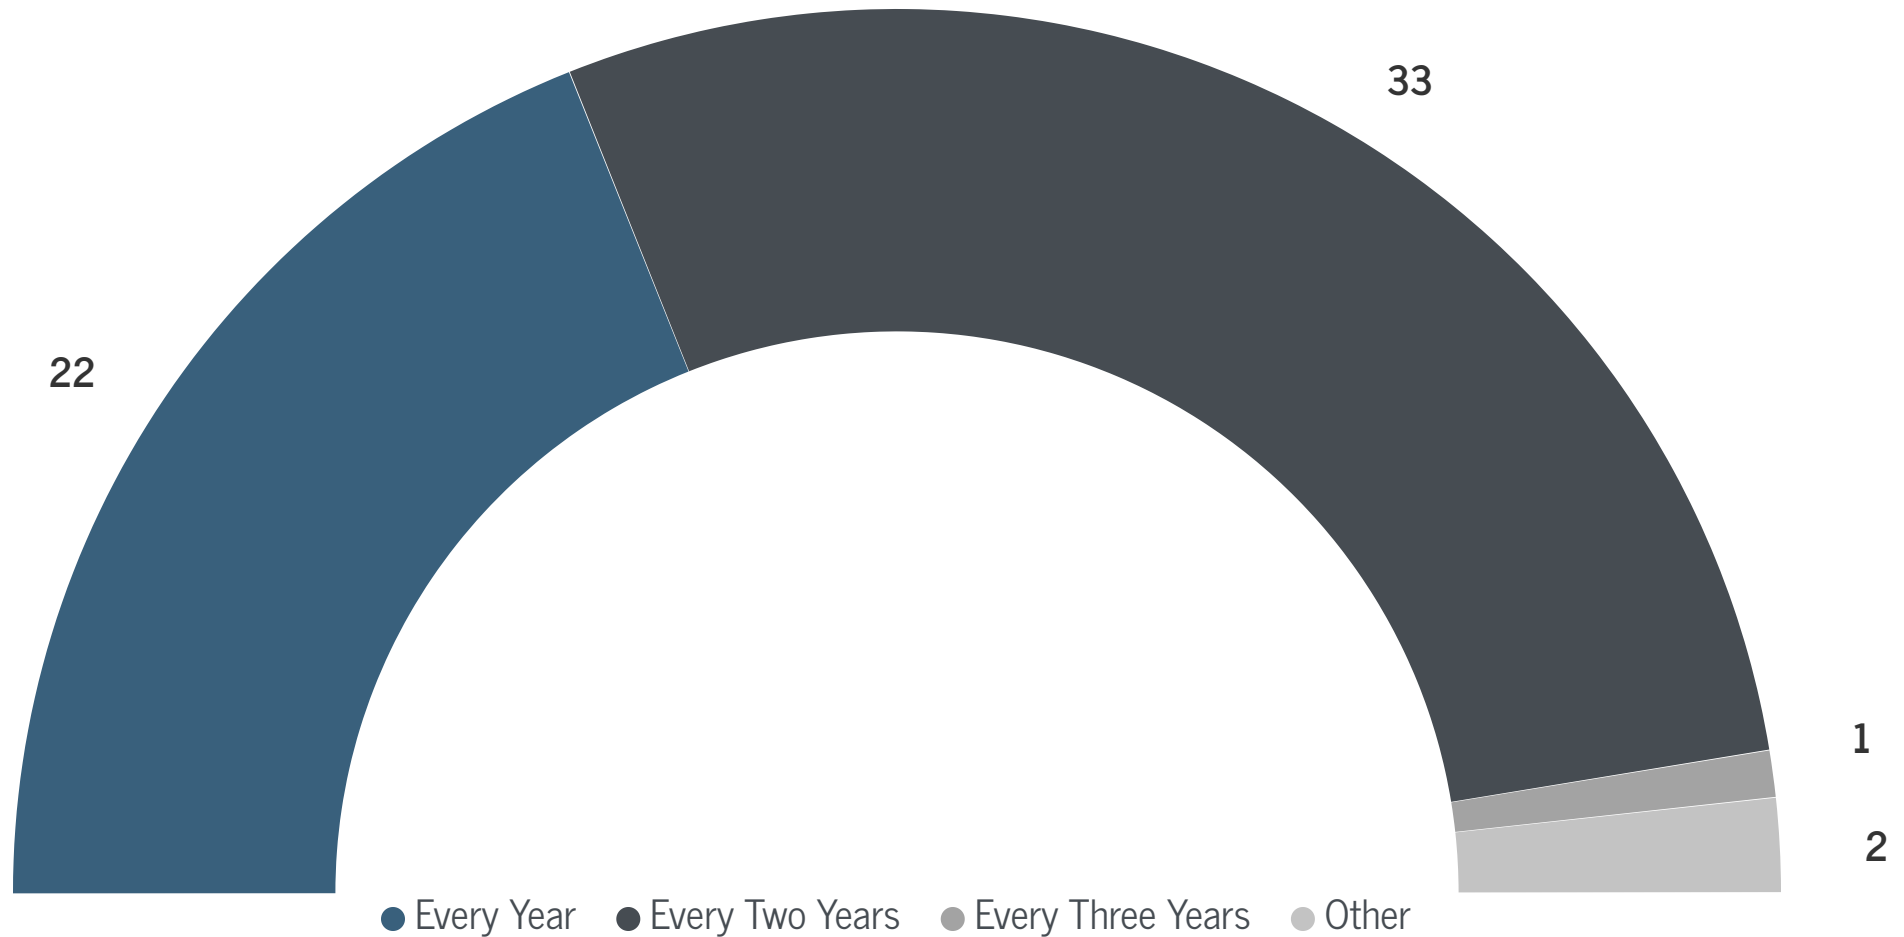

Important Note: PSYPACT & Temporary Practice

The Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact (PSYPACT) is an interstate compact designed to facilitate the practice of telepsychology and the temporary in-person, face-to-face practice of psychology across state lines in PSYPACT participating states. For temporary practice under the authority of PSYPACT, psychologists licensed in PSYPACT participating states can apply to practice temporarily up to 30 calendar days per calendar year in each PSYPACT state. Data in this section is not reflective of PSYPACT participating states. For more information about PSYPACT, visit the Focus: PSYPACT section of this publication.

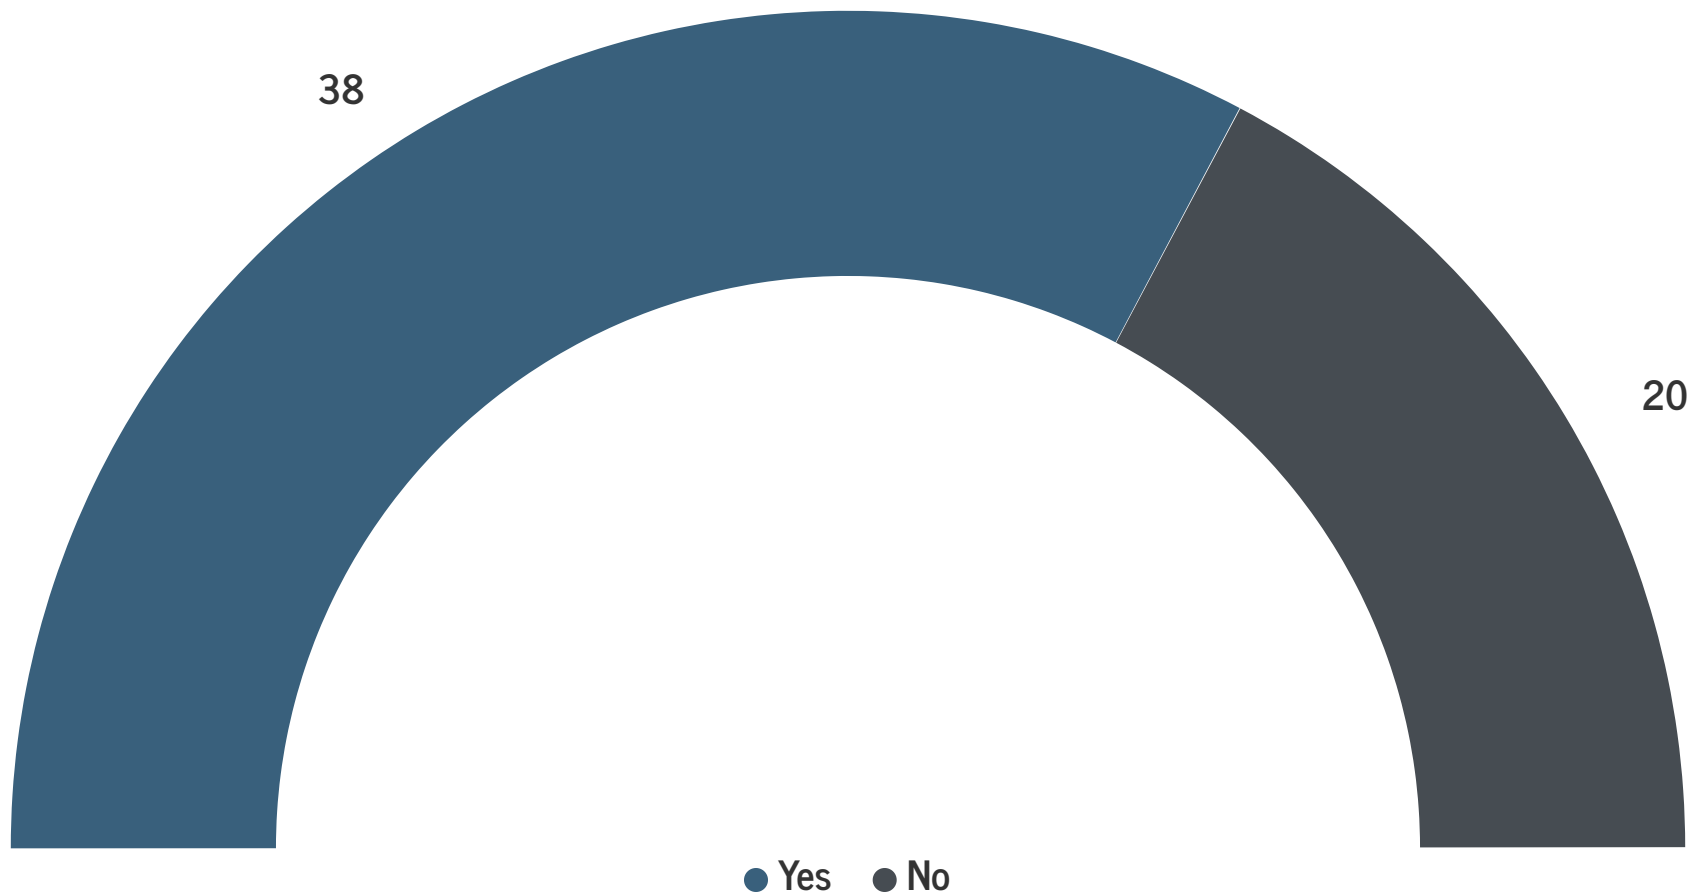

License Renewals

Psychologists must renew their licenses on a schedule set by the psychology licensing boards to maintain a license to practice. The largest proportion of respondents (57%) require licenses to be renewed every two years.

Inactive Licenses

Approximately 66% of respondents provide for an inactive license status. A psychologist who holds an inactive license may not practice psychology but may continue to use the title "psychologist". A psychologist who holds an inactive license continues to be subject to the statutes and rules/regulations of the psychology licensing board.

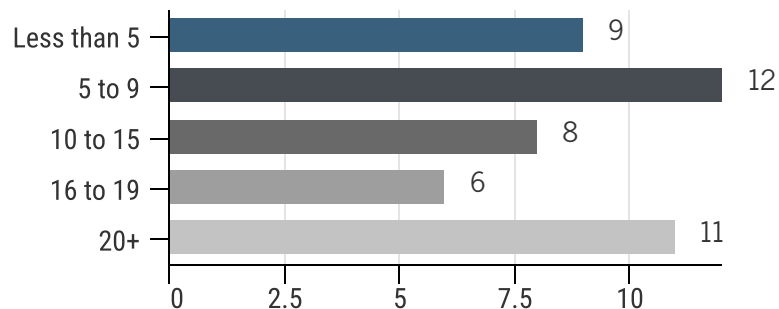

Licensure by Experience

In certain jurisdictions, applicants for licensure receive special consideration based on the number of years of experience as a licensed psychologist in another jurisdiction.

Ethics Requirements

74% of respondents require that a portion of a psychologist's CPD/CE hours be in ethics.

Special Situations

There are certain situations in which some psychology licensing boards may allow psychologists to perform an activity without requiring a license.

Testifying as an Expert Witness	29	21	8
Consulting on a Limited Basis	18	35	5

Exemptions

Approximately 62% of respondents have settings in which a psychologist is exempt from the requirement to be licensed.

Settings in which a Psychologist is exempt from the requirement to be licensed

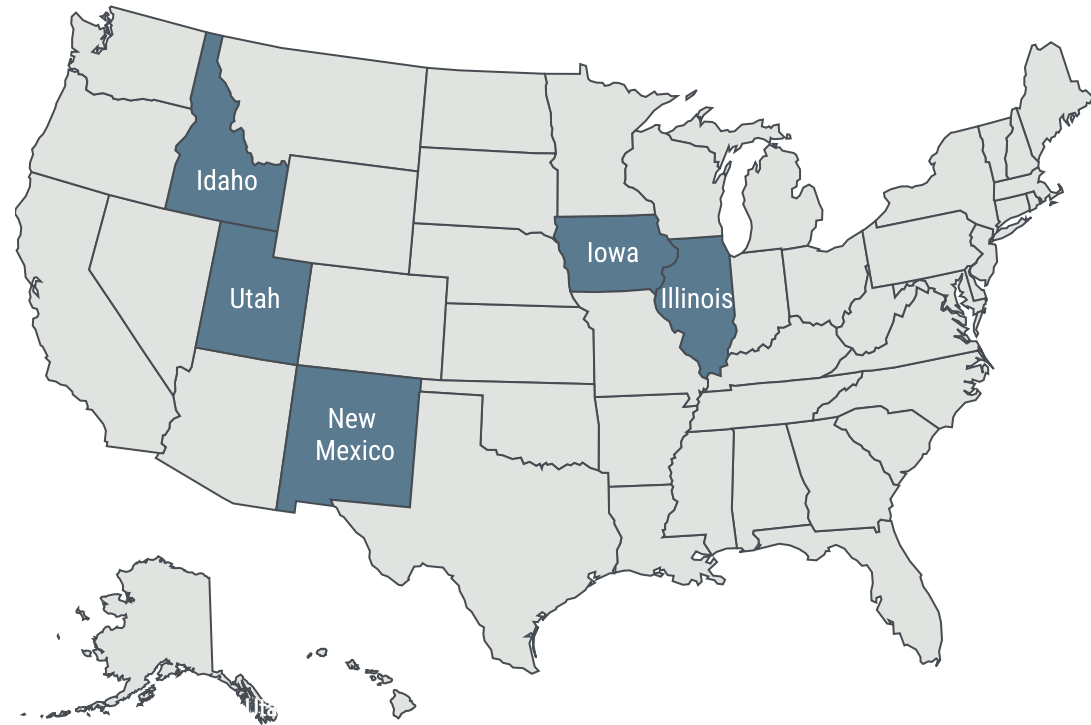

Prescriptive Authority

In some jurisdictions, a licensed psychologist may obtain the authority to prescribe medications if the psychologist has met certain requirements.

6

Jurisdictions in the United States can issue prescriptive authority to licensed psychologists. Issuance of prescriptive authority may be under the authority of a different regulatory agency in other jurisdictions.

100% of jurisdictions that issue prescriptive authority require the Psychopharmacology Examination for Psychologists (PEP).

FOCUS: PSYPACT

Focusing in on the Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact (PSYPACT): an interstate compact designed to facilitate the practice of telepsychology and the temporary in-person, face-to-face practice of psychology across state boundaries in PSYPACT participating states. When applications officially opened, PSYPACT began providing licensed psychologists the opportunity to increase access to mental healthcare services while giving states a mechanism to enhance their ability to protect the health and safety of the public. The following represents data through December 31, 2024.

PSYPACT[®] Psychology Interjurisdictional Compact

FOCUS: DDS

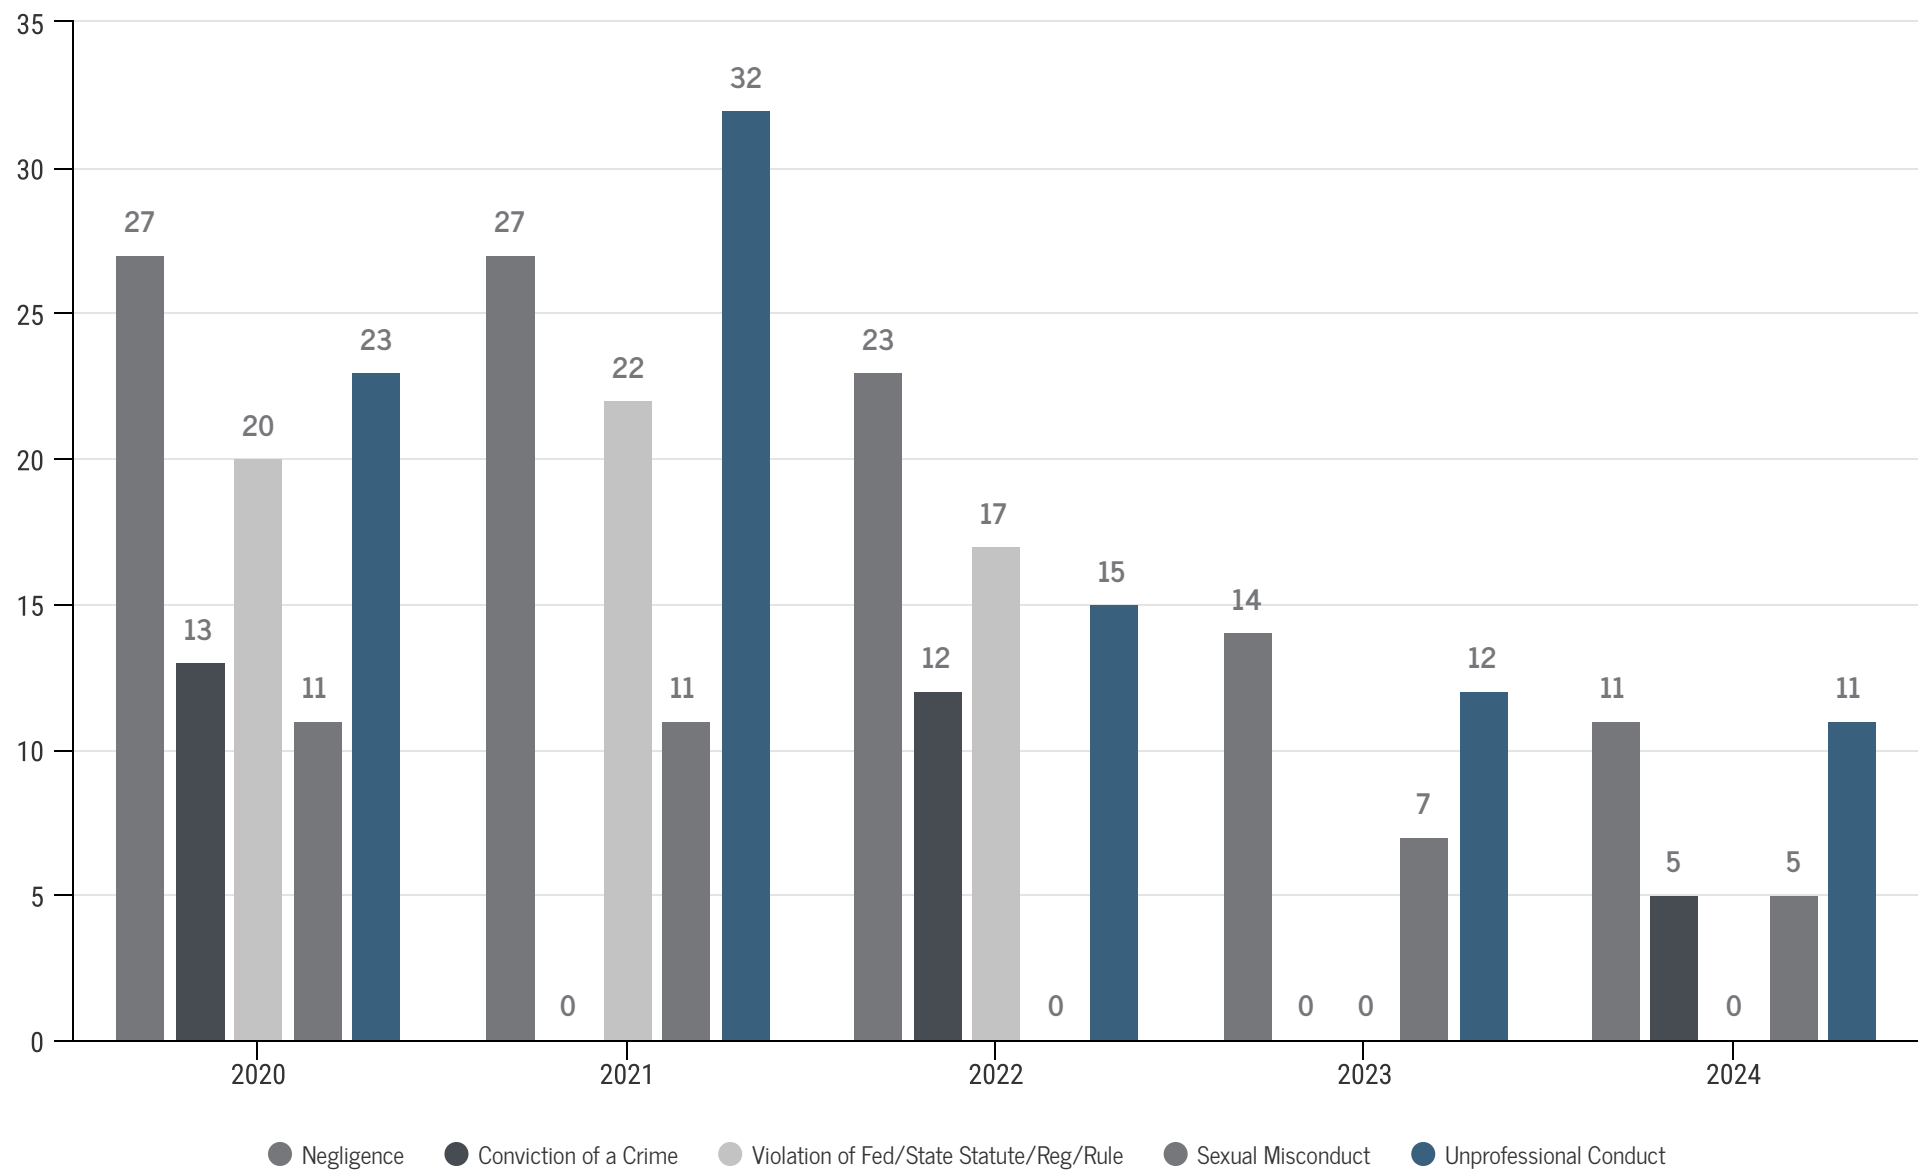

Focusing on the ASPPB Disciplinary Data System (DDS): a repository of publicly reported disciplinary actions taken by the psychology licensing boards. With records that date back to the 1970's, it allows sharing of information between jurisdictions regarding the disciplinary actions taken against their licensees.

Top Disciplinary Reason Types (Past 5 Years)

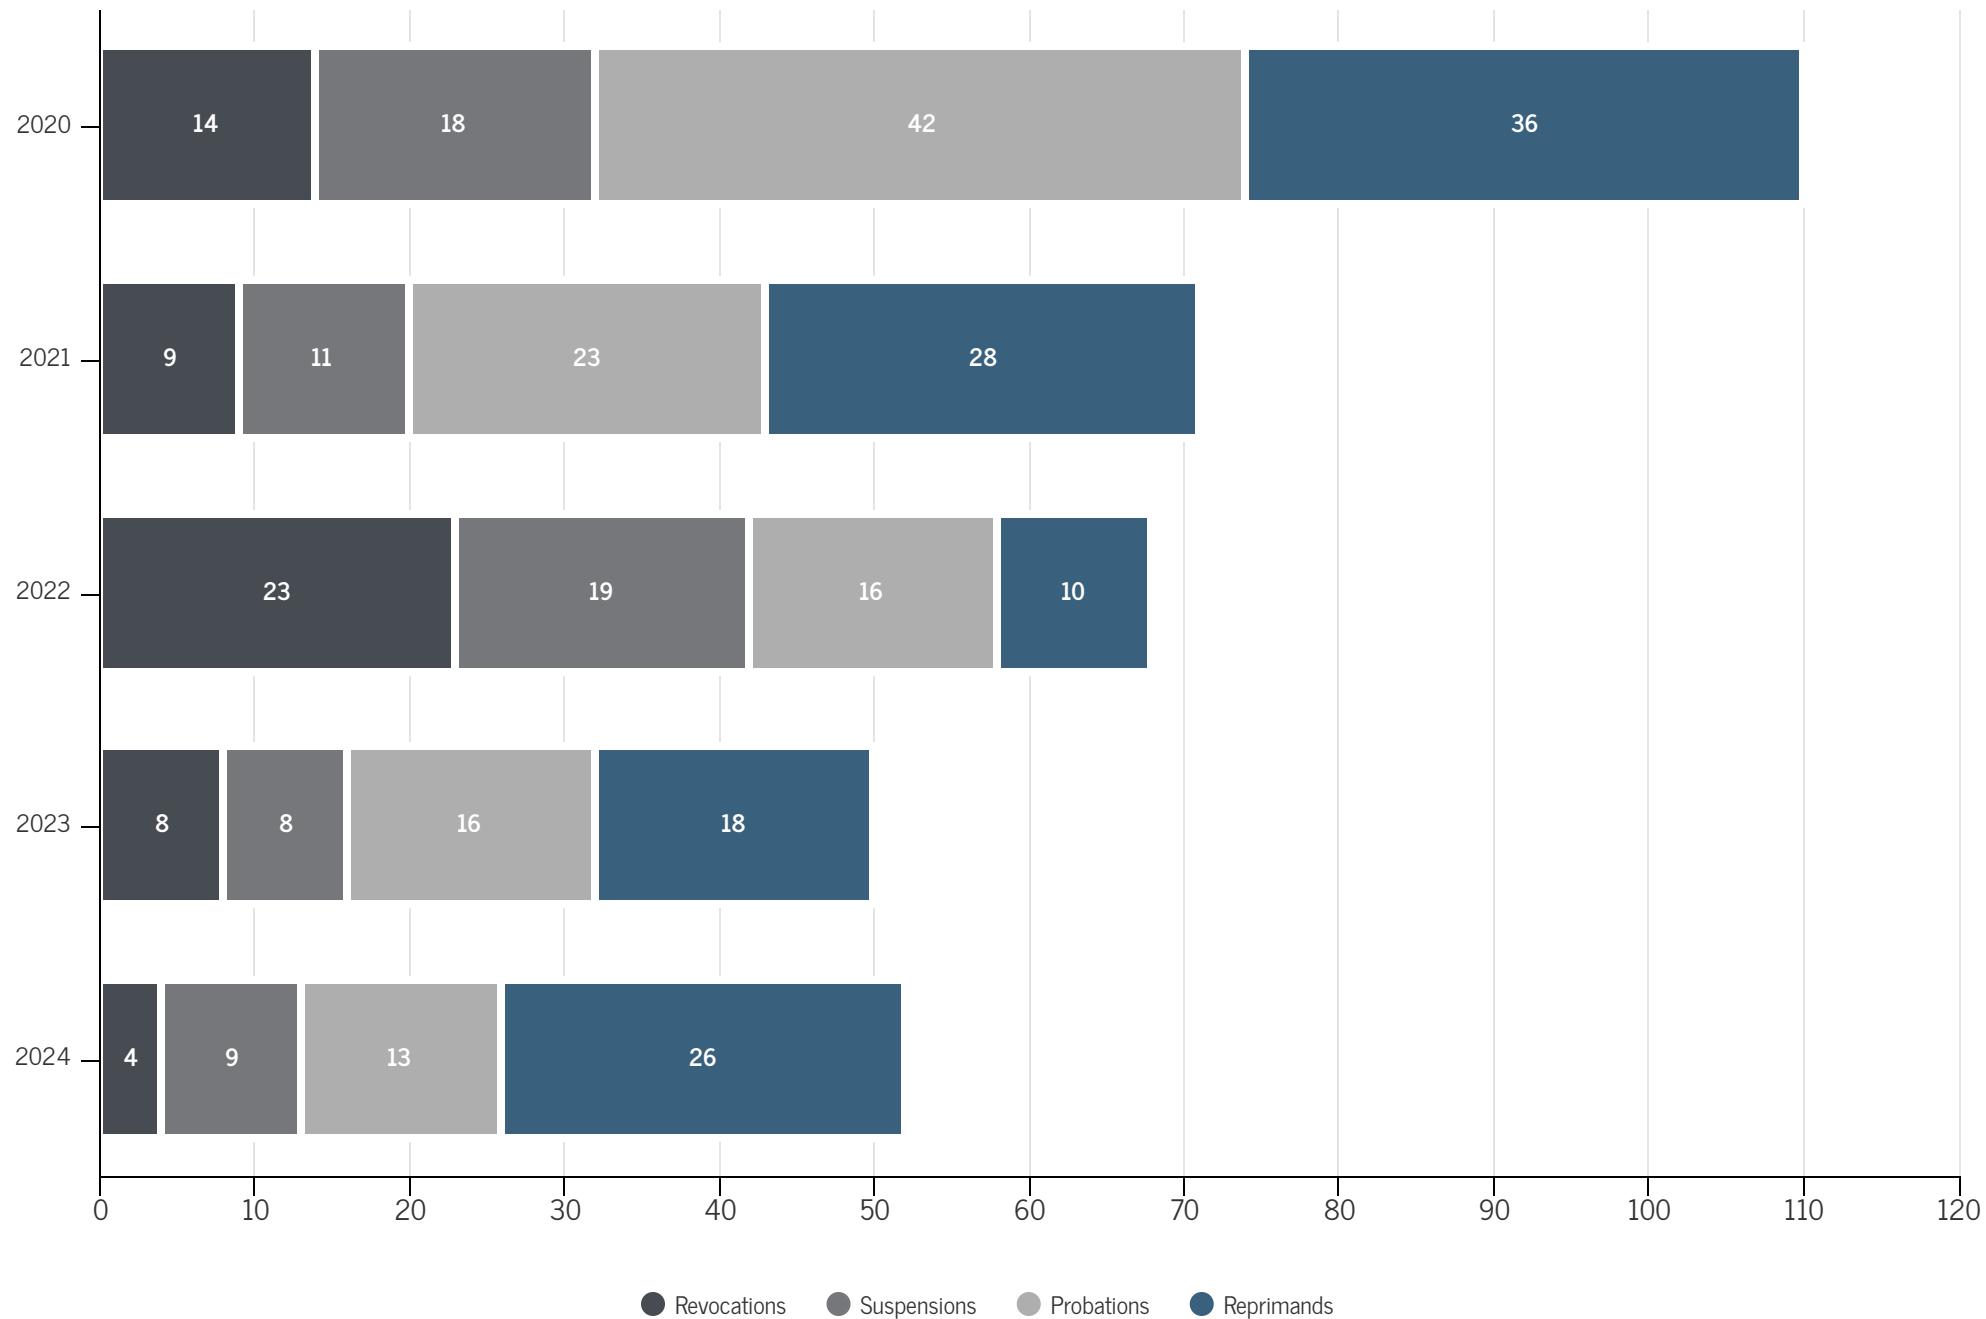

Psychology licensing boards will review any formal written complaint about a psychologist's services or behavior related to the practice of psychology and will take disciplinary action if they find evidence of incompetent, unprofessional services, unethical, unprofessional and/or illegal behavior. Psychology licensing boards may have differences in their laws and rules regarding the practice of psychology and licensed professionals.

3

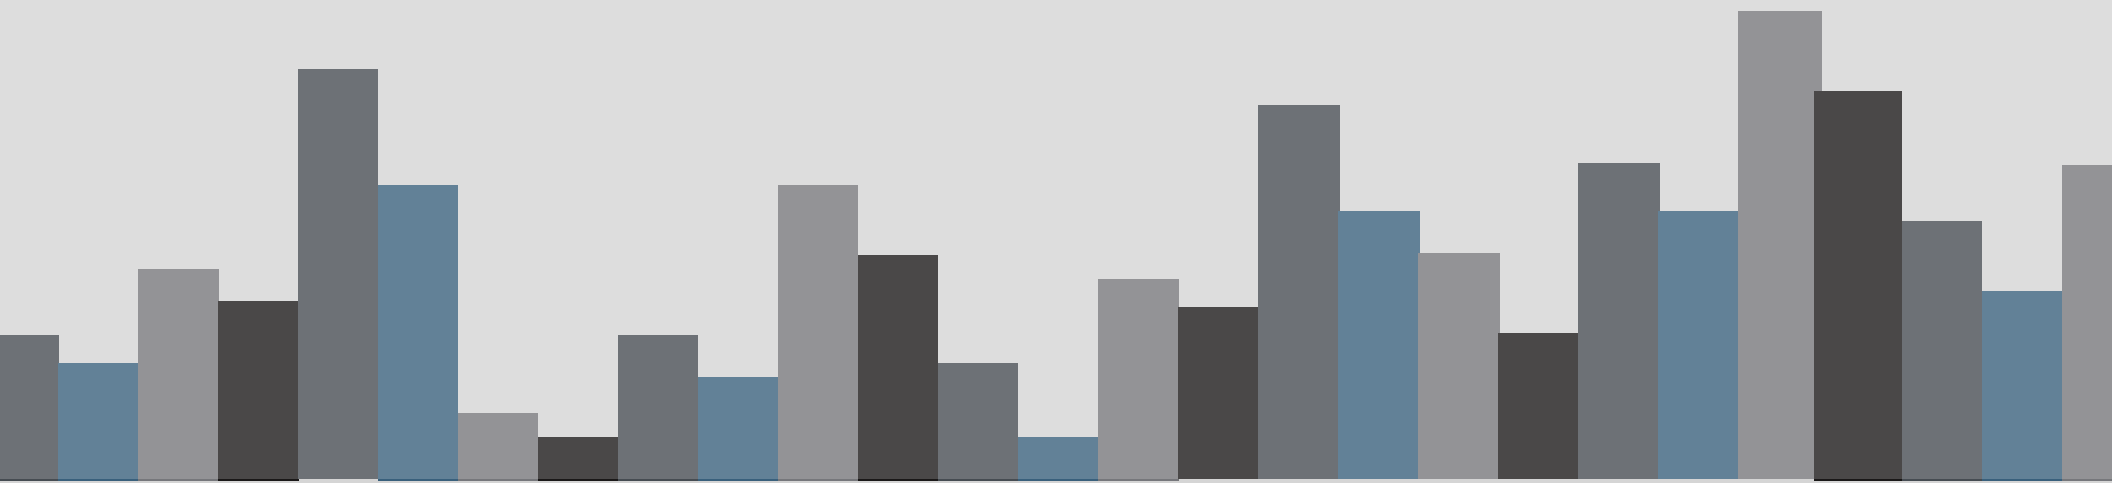

Disciplinary Action Types Taken Per Year (Past 5 Years)

Each psychology licensing board determines the appropriate disciplinary action based on the findings of an investigation. The top four disciplinary action types taken are: revocation, suspension, probation, and reprimand.

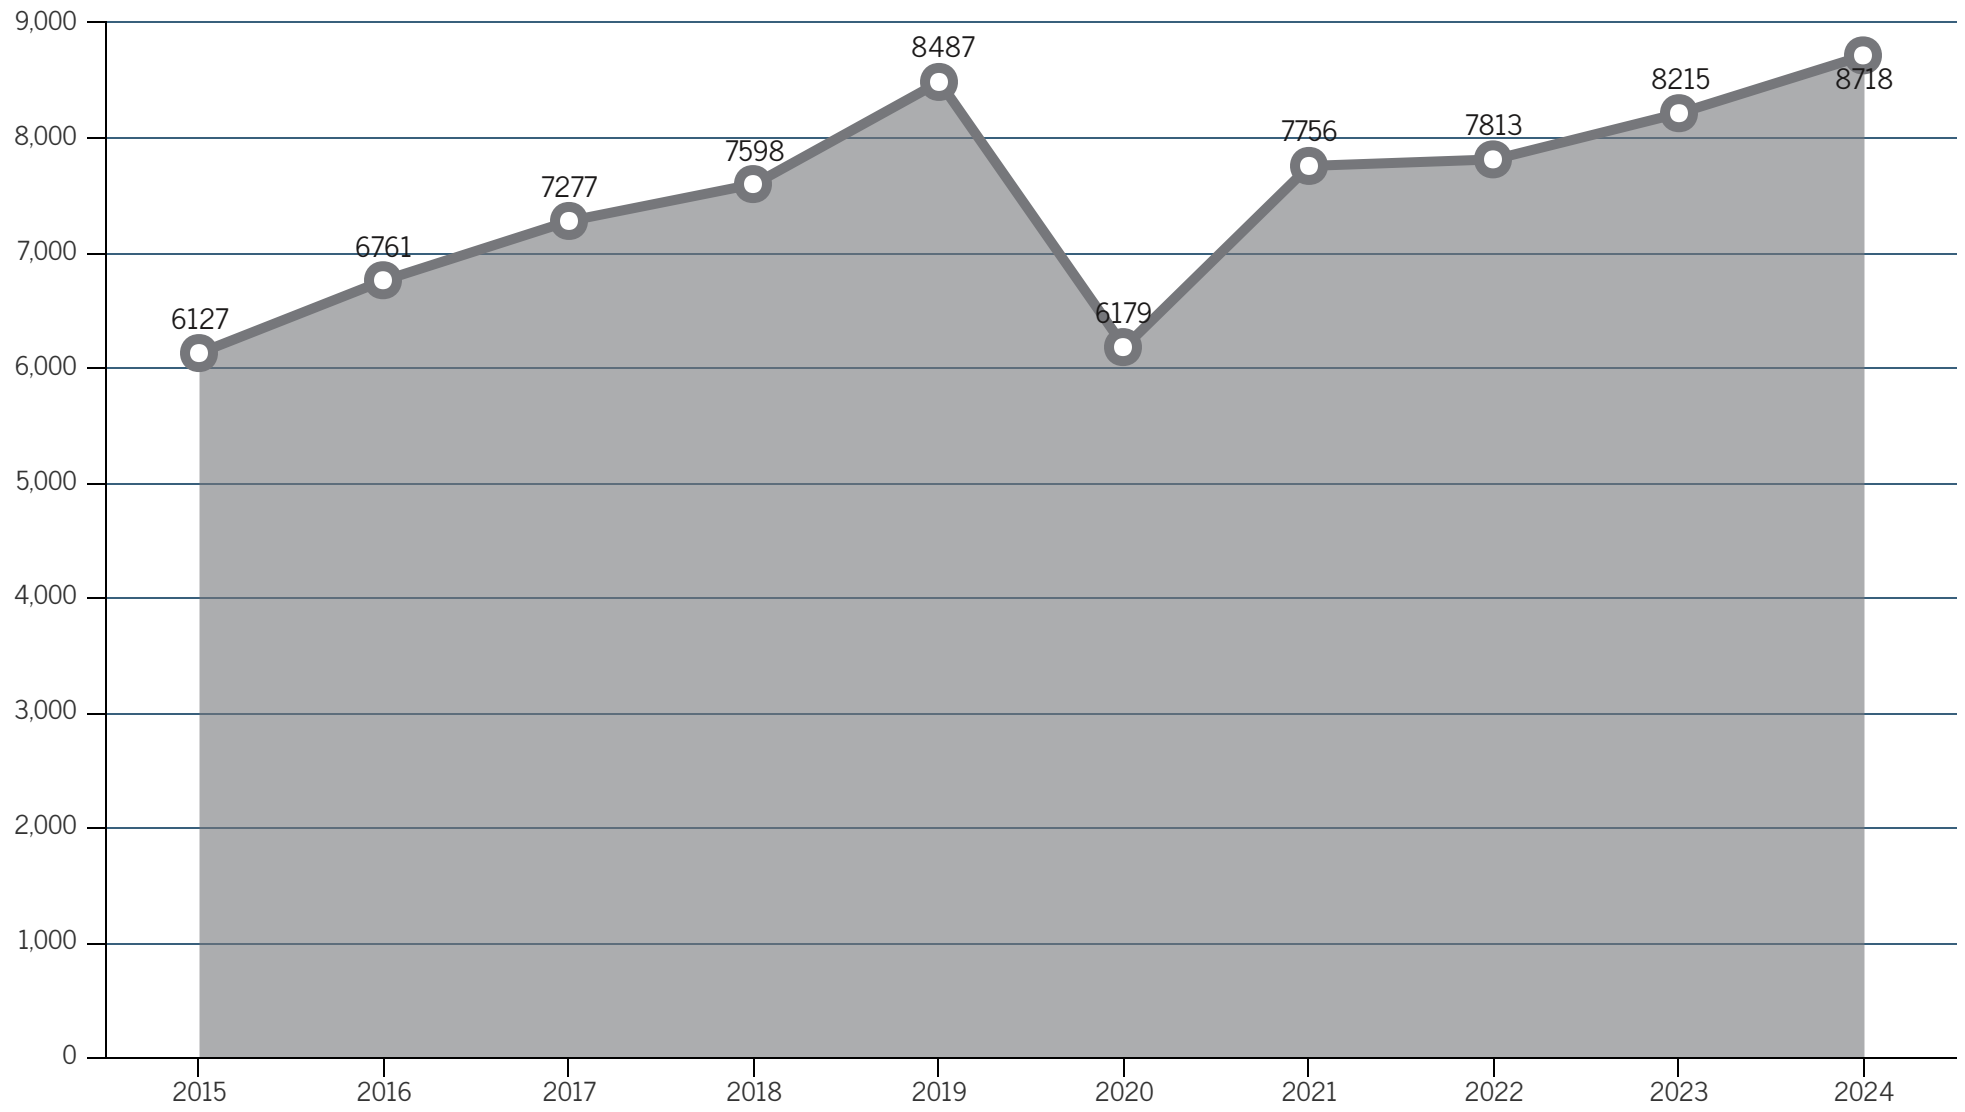

FOCUS: EPPP

Focusing on the Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology (EPPP), which is developed and owned by ASPPB since 1963. The EPPP is provided to state and provincial boards of psychology to assist them in their evaluation of the qualifications of applicants for licensure and certification.

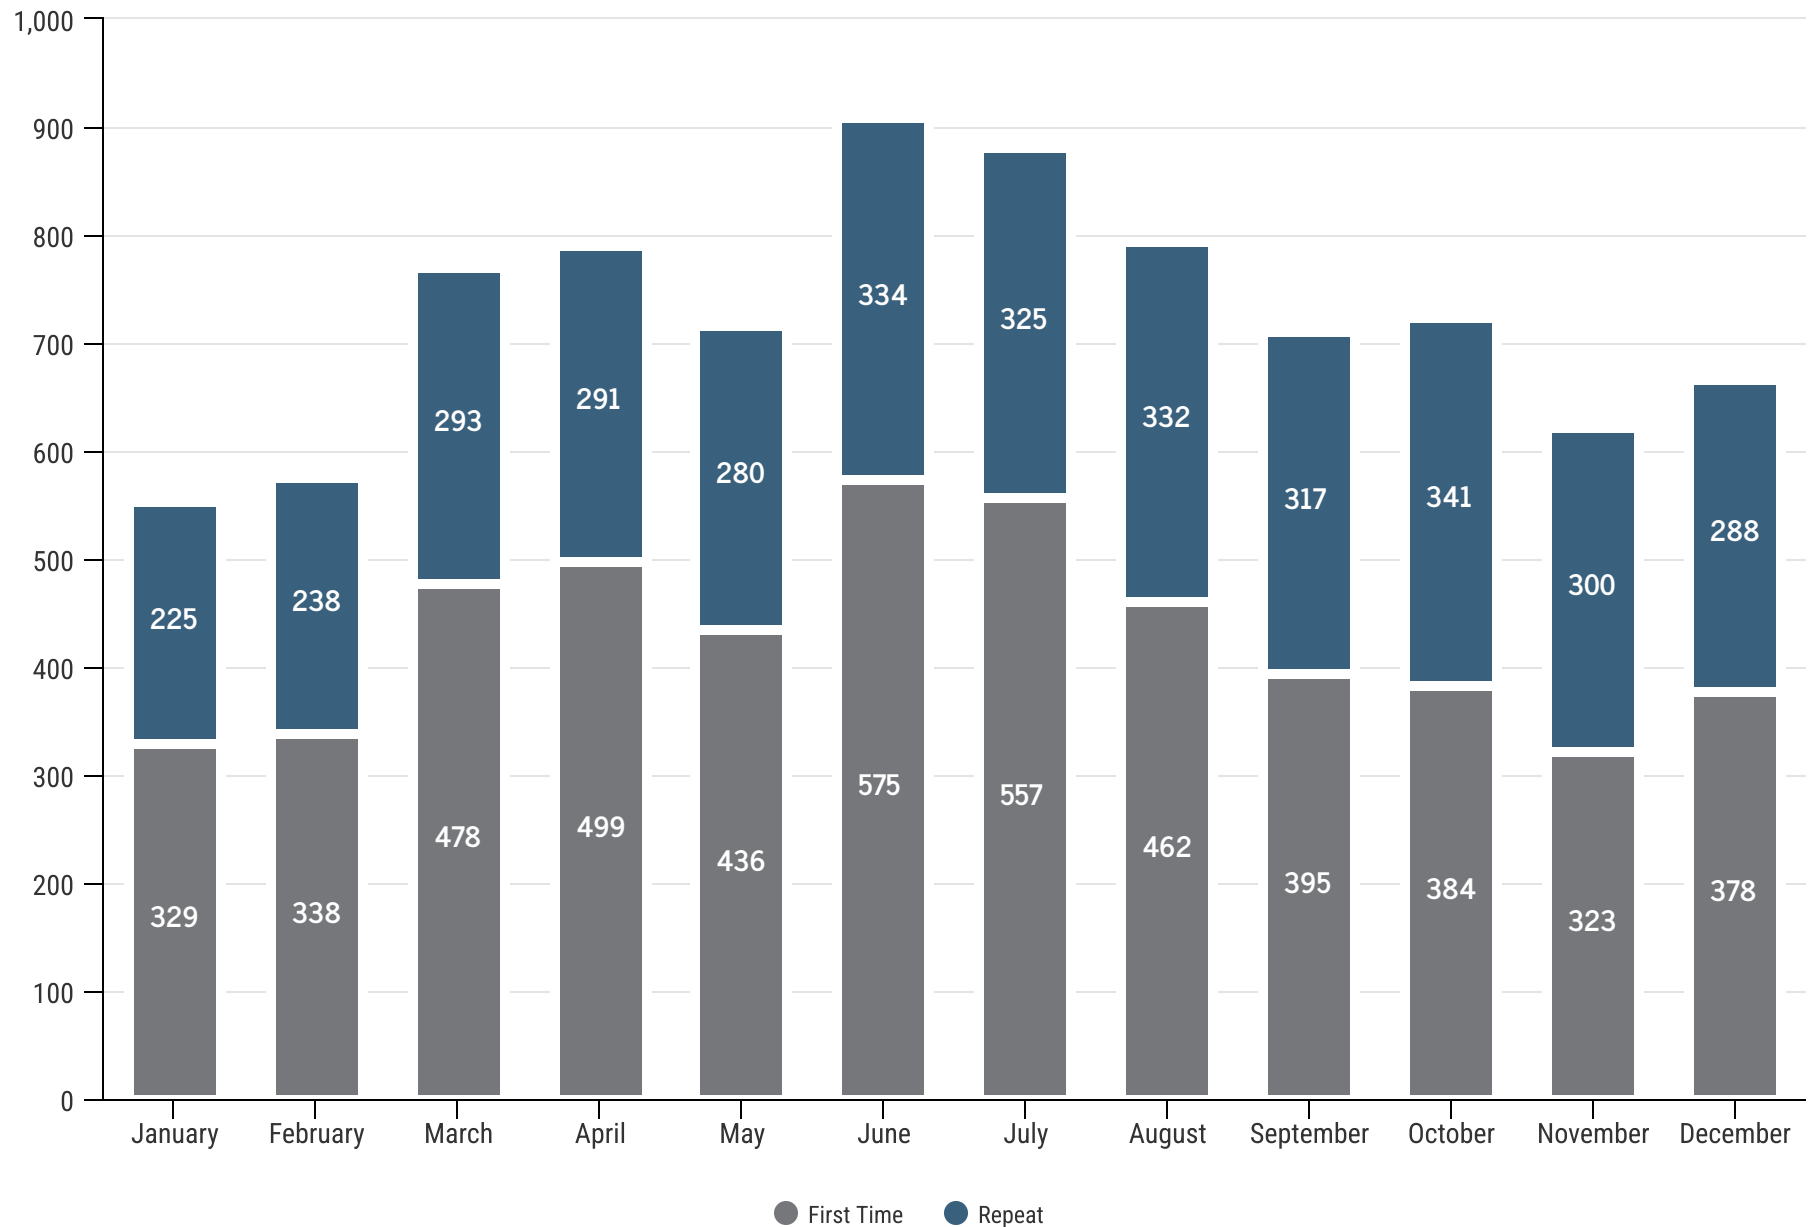

Total EPPP's Administered Per Year (Past 10 Years)

Candidates who sit for the EPPP must first be approved by a psychology licensing board. Between 1965 and 1978, the EPPP was administered on a rolling basis. This changed between 1979 and 2001, when the EPPP was administered twice per year, once in April and once in October. Since 2001, the EPPP has returned to being administered on a rolling basis.

First Time and Repeat EPPP Takers (2024)

If candidates score does not meet their licensing authority's requirement for licensure, they may re-apply to take the EPPP by contacting their psychology licensing board.
